3 Keys to Get Started as an RV Nomad

We're Tara & Carl, and we have cracked a lifestyle code.

We've traveled the world, and along with our dog, Cosmo, we live full-time in an RV, following our hearts wherever we want to roam, all while working from the road, salsa dancing (it's how we met), and exploring all corners of the country at our own pace. We are living this dream and we love helping others make this dream real, so you too can experience the freedom and joy that travel brings!

Learn how to create a no-vacation-needed life. Live boundlessly, now not later. No more waiting and hoping for that fated "someday." Today is your someday!

3 Keys to Get Started as an RV Nomad!

1. Embrace it as a Lifestyle Experiment

What started as a 3-month experiment back in 2017, has turned into more than 3 years of nomadic living for us. We have been living full-time in an RV, following our hearts, working from the road, and exploring all corners of the country at our own pace. We discovered that we love this lifestyle, and perhaps you will too!

2. Shift Any Limiting Beliefs

If you want to change something about your life, change your thoughts. When you hold on to beliefs that you can't, that's the truth that you live from and create from. Rather than asking "Can I do this?", ask "How can I do this?" and open up to learning and exploring the path to make it possible.

3. Get Strategic With Your Finances

Most people's biggest monthly expense is their rent or mortgage payment. By finding a creative strategy to lower your largest expense, you can free up resources. There's a wide range of budgets for RV living and no one size fits all strategy. Consider: Can you rent out your home while traveling? Or, how would becoming "houseless" shift your budget and expand your options? Know that if there's a will, there's a way. We look forward to helping you find your way.

The #1 question we get asked: "How do you get your mail?"

Here's the skinny: There are several mail sorting, scanning, and forwarding services out there -- Escapees Club, MyRVMail, and Traveling Mailbox are a few examples. Carl and I do not, however, use any of them.

Our strategy has been, first, to go paperless with as much as possible (all banking and bill paying is done online, cancelled magazine subscriptions, etc.)

Any remaining mail is sent to a family member's address (our Florida domicile, where we're registered to vote, have a driver's license, pay taxes, etc.). Once a month, this family member kindly sends any mail received in one of the pre-paid Priority Mail envelopes I have supplied her with. She addresses it to wherever I happen to be at that time. Easy-breezy.

As a business owner, another step I took was to authorize any mail sent to me from the IRS to also be sent to my CPA. (If this interests you, contact the IRS for the necessary paperwork to set this up.) That's it. Pretty simple stuff. I'll also add that Amazon ships to Amazon Lockers which are scattered throughout the country, making ordering things online (and picking them up) super easy as well.

How to get your mail is just ONE of so many important questions you need answers to before hitting the road.

Living a nomadic lifestyle - be it for a month, a season, a year, or forever - is a dream that many share, yet so few actually DO it because fears about the unknown and all the "what ifs" that pop to mind too often stop the dream in its tracks.

Lord knows, spending endless hours googling questions certainly isn't the fastest or easiest way to get road-ready for all things logistical, mechanical, lifestyle, and social! In Nomadic Living 101, we've done the leg-work for you!
